Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 02 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloudy overnight with patchy drizzle. Sunny spells developing Friday afternoon.

This Evening and Tonight:
A few sunny spells are possible this evening before cloud cover builds and becomes widespread overnight. Some patchy drizzle is possible but for most it will be a largely dry night. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Friday:
A little drizzle for some during the morning, but a generally dry day. Sunny spells developing through the afternoon as cloud breaks up. Feeling warm in any sunshine. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Mostly dry with variable cloud throughout this period allowing for some sunny spells. Feeling pleasant in the sunshine. Some rain possible on Sunday night. Breezy at times but turning warm.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.